

About Us

The Department of Applied Foreign Languages was founded in 2008. The Department aims to nurture students to acquire language skills with a special focus on skills applications in professional areas through a variety of courses designed. It also aims to strengthen students' interpersonal abilities developed upon their awareness of their roles in relation to others, and to help students develop a global view.

The current department chair is Professor Cherry Li.

Primary Research Areas

There are two kinds of programs in the Department of Applied Foreign Languages. Program A: Language Teaching/Learning and Research; Program B: Language in Foreign Economic Relations and Trade.

- The ability to use Foreign Languages appropriately.
- The ability to apply Foreign Languages in professional areas.
- The ability to cooperate and negotiate with others.
- The ability to engage in cross-cultural communication.
- The ability to do extensive reading to enhance knowledge in professional areas and/or in humanity.

Core Courses

Introduction to Linguistics, Intermediate Writing in English, English Conversation, English Pronunciation and Oral Practice, Guided Writing in English, Guided Reading in English, Contrastive Study of Chinese-English Phonetics, Introduction to Literary Works, Basic Aural-oral Training in English, Japanese Grammar and Sentence Patterns, Japanese Conversation...

Course Requirements (Credits for graduation):

Requirements for a degree of Bachelor of Arts in Applied Foreign Languages: 138 credits of courses

Contact

Department chair	Prof. Li, Cherry
Assistants	Ms. Tsao, Clare
TEL	+886-2-25925252 ext. 3402 re-ext. 25
FAX	+886-2-2593-3917
E-mail	chtsao@ttu.edu.tw